PREFACE

The purpose in making this record, which has been done with some labor and many delays, is to hand down to future generations as true a record as can be procured from the statistics at hand. We have traced the family as far back as the middle of the eighteenth century, which is the beginning of the Couch family in America. We hope that future generations will continue the record as the family increases.

DEDICATED

with loving memory

to

MABEL COUCH LEE

A few years prior to the War of the Revolution three brothers, James, Samuel and Meshach Couch, landed in America from the shores of "Old England." During this war they resided in the state of Maryland.

We have no record of the families of James or Samuel. It is in Meshach that we are especially interested, he being the founder of the branch of the Couch family to which we belong.

Meshach Couch was born Sept. 8, 1743, in England, being of Scotch and English descent. On Dec. 30, 1773, he married Mary Welch. She was born April 16, 1758, in Maryland.

To them were born thirteen children:

Sally, born April 16, 1775. Married Thos. Stack of North Carolina.

Samuel, born April 7, 1777.

Charlotte, born Jan. 19, 1779. Married Thos. Rook of North Carolina.

Phoebe, born Nov. 10, 1780. Married Jonathan Iddings.

James, born Jan. 25, 1783.

Joseph, born Oct. 29, 1784.

Mary, born Nov. 21, 1786.

Nathan, born Dec. 8, 1788.

John, born Dec. 15, 1790.

Meshach, born May 28, 1793. Married Elizabeth H. Mills in North Carolina.

Piercy, born Aug. 8, 1795.

Joshua, born June 7, 1797.

Priscilla, born Sept. 29, 1799. Married Jordan Wright.

Meshach Couch died June 3, 1824.

Mary Welch Couch died January 11, 1832.

There are no complete records of these thirteen children of Meshach and Mary Couch except Meshach Couch, the tenth child, whose descendants are the subject of this genealogy.

MESHACH COUCH, 3rd.

Meshach Couch was born on May 28, 1793, in Guilford Co., North Carolina. On January 25, 1816, near Martinsville, Battle Co., N. C., he married Elizabeth Mills. She was the youngest daughter of Amos and Elizabeth Horn Mills and was born March 28, 1793.

Meshach Couch learned and followed the cooper's trade and afterward became a farmer. On leaving the south he moved to Indiana and cast his lot with the early settlers of Fayette County, whence he afterward moved to Randolph County where he died on March 19, 1858.

Elizabeth Mills Couch died May 9, 1853. She was a member of the Society of Friends.

To Meshach and Elizabeth Couch were born seven children.

- I. Joseph Anderson, born June 4, 1820.
- II. Jeremiah Franklin, born Nov. 16, 1821.
- III. Charlotte, born March 30, 1824.
- IV. Mary, born Dec. 28, 1827.

- VII. Nathan Alexander, born June 2, 1838.

I. JOSEPH ANDERSON COUCH.

Joseph Anderson Couch was born in Guilford Co., N. C., on June 4, 1820, and spent his young manhood in that state. On Sept. 1, 1842, he married Jemima Wilson in Guilford Co., N. C. She was born Feb. 18, 1819.

To them were born four children:

1. Cummins Wier, born June 8, 1843.
2. Joel C., born Sept. 30, 1845.
3. Piety Ann, born March 25, 1848.
4. Martha Maria, born Jan. 10, 1850.

Jemima Wilson Couch died in March, 1848, in Randolph Co., Ind.

On March 8, 1852, Meshach Couch married Ruth M. Coffin, who was the daughter of Harvey and Rachel Coffin. She was born July 3, 1831, in Guilford Co., N. C.

To them were born twelve children:

5. Harvey Meshach, born Dec. 14, 1852.
6. Lydia Catherine, born March 2, 1854.
7. Rachel Elizabeth, born June 19, 1855.
8. Mary Jane, born Feb. 18, 1857.
9. George W., born Nov. 22, 1858.
10. Sarah Hannah, born Nov. 17, 1860.
11. Milton Marion, born March 7, 1862.
12. Deborah Ellen, born Feb. 7, 1864.
13. James Anderson, born Dec. 18, 1867.
14. Eli B. J., born Jan. 18, 1868.
15. Henry Eddie, born Nov. 3, 1870.
16. Charles, born Sept. 21, 1872.

The eldest son, Cummins Wier, was born in North Carolina. Shortly after his birth J. A. Couch moved his little family to Randolph Co., Indiana. Here Joel C. and Martha Maria and Piety Ann were born. Harvey M. Lydia C. and Rachel E. were all born in Indiana. Martha Maria, Lydia C. and Rachel E. all died in infancy while their parents lived in this state. In the autumn of 1855 the call of the West became insistent with this family and loading belongings and family in one wagon drawn by a three horse team, J. Anderson Couch started for Iowa. Wier was then twelve years old and Joel was but ten. We can imagine the crowded condition of the one wagon so to these two sturdy young chaps was delegated the task of driving the cattle and sheep, Wier driving the cattle and Joel driving the sheep. It would be hard for us to imagine at this day and age of easy transportation of live stock, the necessity for driving cattle and sheep the distance from Indiana to Iowa. Yet these two lads walked the entire way—following the stock. At that time not a mile of railroad was built in Iowa. The Mississippi was crossed at Burlington by steam ferry. The Des Moines River was crossed by pontoon bridge.

The twenty-fifth of November these pioneers reached Adel, then known as Penoach. The winter was spent three miles east of the present town of Redfield, then known as Irishtown, in a double hewed log house, the family of W. L. Macy occupying one half. The trip to Iowa had taken a month. In the spring of 1856 J. Anderson Couch built a log house a quarter of a mile south of the present residence of Harvey M. Couch, where with the exception of his later years, he spent the remainder of his life. The rigors of the trip west and of the first years in their new location can scarcely be imagined. Neighbors were scarce as the county was not so thickly settled as it now is. The grit and backbone required to hew out a home in the comparative wilderness as it existed at that time can hardly be conceived. However it was done and a family reared. The latter part of the life of J. Anderson Couch was spent in Arkansas, where the climate was a little less rigorous and the health of both Mr. and Mrs. Couch was better. Ruth Coffin Couch passed away July 5, 1895. Almost eight years later on July 3, 1903, Joseph Anderson Couch died. Both are buried at Lone Elm Cemetery near Siloam Springs.

Here the children were all born with the exception of Marquis, the youngest. In 1860 they removed to Tipton Co., Ind., (some of the way had to be made with the ax.) Settling on the land he had entered from the government in 1852, pioneer life began in earnest. He worked on the farm during the day and made barrels and the children's boots and shoes at night. His wife spun, wove and made the wearing apparel for the family. "Fever and ague" was an every day occurrence and the quinine jar was as necessary as the sugar bowl and more often in use. Log rollings, wool pickings and house raisings were the social gatherings. He was interested in education and built a log school, 20 by 40 feet, on his farm. Here his own and his neighbors' children received a limited education. They were often lulled to sleep by the frog or the whip-poor-will. These were their graphophones while the telephone consisted of the old fashioned dinner horn or a rag on a pole. Instead of the Roman chair in the corner it was the blue dye kettle, "that we must not jar or it wouldn't make," and the jeans and linsy would not be a good color. And of course we "didn't jar". In going to church or market we were not worried about our automobiles exploding for our mode of travel was two big horses, "Beck and Kate", hitched to a good, solid hickory wagon, and when the wheels got dry and happened to "screech" they were oiled up with soft soap mother made from lye from ashes and grease from the hogs fattened on the "mast". Our vehicles were adapted to our roads. Instead of crushed stone or cement we had "crosslain"—that is, logs cut about 12 feet long and laid side by side with a little dust thrown on, and as these were sometimes afloat it took something teachable to understand how to cross

THE FARMER'S PROBLEM

The farmer's problem is a complex one, involving many factors. It is not only a problem of production, but also of distribution and consumption. The farmer must produce enough to feed his family and his community, and he must also be able to sell his surplus at a fair price.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of social justice. The farmer is often the most vulnerable member of the community, and he is often the one who is most exploited. The farmer must be able to live on the land, and he must be able to control his own destiny.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of economic development. The farmer is the backbone of the rural economy, and he is the one who provides the food and raw materials for the rest of the country.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of political participation. The farmer is often the most active member of the community, and he is the one who is most concerned about the future of the country.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of cultural preservation. The farmer is the guardian of the rural way of life, and he is the one who is most responsible for the preservation of the rural heritage.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of environmental protection. The farmer is the one who is most responsible for the protection of the land, and he is the one who is most concerned about the future of the environment.

The farmer's problem is also a problem of social reform. The farmer is the one who is most responsible for the improvement of the rural community, and he is the one who is most concerned about the future of the country.

Here at Alexandria, he joined his crew on a B-17 Flying Fortress as a Radio Operator Gunner. They trained and flew together for two months and then were ready for overseas. They arrived at Lincoln, Nebraska, as their Port of Embarkation, on November 27, 1944.

He was reared on a farm in Randolph Co., Ind. On Aug. 10, 1856, at Huntsville, Ind., he married Melinda Jackson, a daughter of Samuel and Jemima Cox Jackson. She was born May 14, 1837, in Randolph Co., Ind. Five years after marriage Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Couch lived in Indiana. In 1861 they moved to Wisconsin and bought forty acres of land in Sauk Co. Here they lived until 1869 when they sold their land and started for Iowa in a special train consisting of two bobsleds drawn by four horses. He packed his household goods in one sled while the other sled carried the family. In this sled they lived and slept and cooked their meals, until after 11 days of struggle and hardships they reached their destination in Dallas Co., Ia., near Adel, where they made their home for two years. It was in 1870 that a great tide of immigration set out from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and even farther east, for Kansas and Nebraska. The present Illinois Central RR. was completed this year from Ft. Dodge to Sioux City and emigrants settled along its route and commenced to build towns and develop the country. It was not long before Mr. Couch heard about the deep black soil and fertile prairies of the northwest and decided to investigate. In the fall of 1870 he came to Buena Vista Co. He built a house and returned to Dallas Co. to move his family to the new home. This was the spring of 1871. The country was then almost a wilderness, with billows of waving grass stretching almost as far as the eye could reach. Many discouragements were met and conquered until finally the efforts of these heroic pioneers were rewarded by good crops and continued prosperity.

Mr. Couch was a well built man of splendid physique. He was active and robust and retained his wonderful activity almost to the last. His wholesome life and exemplary habits were proof against the ravages of time and he successfully resisted the attacks of oncoming years. Age seemed to have little effect upon him. Mr. and Mrs. Couch were members of the Congregational Church and actively aided the work in every way. He took a live, keen interest in every good movement. On Aug. 10, 1906, Mr. and Mrs. Couch celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Couch Family Picnic In 1909

JUAN DE LOPEZ

The Family Reunion.

It was during a visit of the members of the N. A. Couch family in 1909 that Mr. and Mrs. Milton Couch living near Adel invited their kith and kin to join in a family picnic at their home. A number were present and the day of visiting together was so enjoyable that the plan of holding an annual family reunion was discussed, having been suggested by Mabel Couch Lee. No one in the whole family enjoyed this holiday more than she did, although this pleasure was denied her all too soon. The date was set for Oct. 1, 1910. In 1910 it was planned to hold the picnic on the river near the old Mitchell Mill site. As the day approached the place was changed and the first reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Couch. A permanent organization was perfected at this time when J. C. Couch was elected president, which office he has since held.

The reunion the following year was held with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fish. At this meeting a letter was read from Rufus D. Couch, who lives in Indianapolis, Ind. He suggested the compilation of a family record. A committee was appointed to have blanks printed and sent to the head of the various families, the material to be used for the record. One member of each branch has since that time collected the material for his own family and so the work was started. Don E. Fish was secretary at this time and most of the work fell to him. He must have credit for all the preliminary work, which took much time and patience. A less energetic secretary would have become discouraged.

The 1912 reunion was held with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Macy at Adel. In 1913 we met with Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Couch. The death of N. A. Couch of Newell in March of this year cast its shadow over this meeting. Every one missed his cheery enthusiasm and hearty good nature which was always felt in his presence. He had been a great inspiration of the idea of a family reunion and he had thoroughly enjoyed this gathering when he had been permitted to attend. To make it a permanent organization and meet from year to year seemed to him a splendid plan.

The 1914 reunion was held in Adel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Couch and in 1915 with George W. Couch near Earlham.

In 1916 we met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Gamber near Redfield. Although the day threatened rain, eighty-three members of the family were present, the largest number yet recorded. It was decided at this meeting to have the family record published.

The reunions thus far have been held near Adel since the greater number of the family live in Dallas County. They appreciate the visits of those from a distance who come from year to year.

Some notable features were in evidence at the 1916 gathering. It is remembered that in 1910 only one family went by automobile to the reunion. This year there was not one horse drawn vehicle on the ground but this crowd of eighty-three people was whisked along through a drizzling rain in automobiles, not caring for threatening weather when curtains are so easily adjusted and chains are in the tonneau.

We had two especially honored guests. Mrs. Maria E. Couch Macy, the oldest living member of the family, eighty-three years old in June, enjoyed the day quite as much as any one present. Then our newest Dallas County Couch was there too, Helen Katherine Eakle, born April 28, 1916.

This annual holiday is a red letter day on our calendar. The loyal spirit which prompts so many to be present attests the faith each one has in family ties.

Comments by the Committee

Truly, this history of the Couch family presents a cross section of midwestern life. It is an authentic and interesting version of American history. From the time the early members of the family left the Carolinas on their westward trek; through Indiana, then to Iowa, and on to points south, west, and north; the history of the Couch's has in it all the romantic adventures that were pioneer America. So look between the lines, dear reader, and you will find adventure, heart-break, daring, perseverance, sorrow, joy, achievement—all the stuff that life is made of, and to a degree that puts fiction to shame.

In the generation and a half since the first history was published, the present members of this large family have scattered far and wide. It has been impossible to bring the history up-to-date for many of the family's branches. However, all dates have been added that could be obtained, and a special effort has been made to bring the history of the Joseph Anderson Couch branch up-to-date.

The committee regrets that there is so much incomplete in this version of the Couch History, but this will have to suffice, and we hope that the next generation will see fit to continue this family history.

The reunion is still held regularly at Adel, Iowa, on the first Sunday of June, of each year.
